LASER SHOOTING RANGE

Outdoor laser shooting at flying targets is an entirely new form of entertainment in the Czech Republic, but it has a venerable tradition in England. The idea is to shoot at flying targets (imitation asphalt pigeons) which are slung from a trap.

The arms looks like real shotguns, equipped with a laser device. Hitting of the target is accompanied by an acoustic and light signal. Up to 5 guns may be shot at the same time. The real-time results of the individual shooters are displayed on an electronic board, offering a range of options for competitions.

Advantages:

- ✓ Shooting without kickback, making it suitable for everybody including women and children (minimum height requirement of 140 cm for safe handling of the shotgun)
- ✓ No destruction of the targets upon hitting, and no creation of waste or damage to the environment as a result
- ✓ Authentic imitation of shotgun shooting without using charges
- ✓ Option of defining several games with emphasis on accuracy or speed, and organising competitions
